THE GOLDEN RULE OF INTERPRETATION

When the plain sense of Scripture makes common sense, seek no other sense; therefore, take every word at its primary, ordinary, usual, literal meaning unless the facts of the immediate context, studied in the light of related passages and axiomatic and fundamental truths, indicate otherwise.

Introduction

Welcome to Foundations 2: Christ Our Messiah, by Anne's School Place! We have been praying that this study of God's Word will draw you closer to Him and give your children the spiritual foundations they need for life.

Objectives:

We compiled this curriculum with several objectives in mind:

1. To give our children a firm understanding of the chronological flow of the Bible so that later study of the Bible would have a framework in which to fit.
2. To give our children a firm understanding of why Christ came to earth. The Old Testament told of how God prepared and preserved a people through whom a Savior would come. The New Testament says, "Christ has come!" (Read 1 Peter 1:8-11.)
3. To give our children a rich heritage of Scripture memory, for the Bible says, "Thy word have I hid in mine heart, that I might not sin against thee" (Psalm 119:11).
4. To help our children learn to navigate God's Word easily, by frequent use of their Bibles.
5. To help our children learn to understand the language of the Bible, by hearing it read aloud to them each day and by learning to read and understand it for themselves.

A Typical Day of Bible:

We'd like to show you what a typical study of the Bible looks like in our homeschool.

1. First, if we haven't already done so, we start our day with prayer.
2. Now we work on learning the week's Bible memory verse. You can read some of our methods in Appendix A. Keep in mind that you might like your older children to learn verses in addition to the ones we assign. See Appendix B for additional memory verses. Another good source for extra memory verses is <http://annesschoolplace.com/bible.shtml>.
3. Several times each week, we review the books of the Bible (memorized during Year 1). As we recite them each day, even the older children who already know them will have a sound review.
4. Mom, or an older student, then reads the day's Bible passage aloud. Note: On many days while Mom reads, our children enjoy coloring and/or doing Bible puzzles. We found an excellent resource for these online, offered by Calvary Chapel at http://children.calvarychapel.com/site/curriculum_n.htm. Their free website allows you to download coloring pictures, worksheets and puzzles, but only for your own family's personal use. You may wish to look at them ahead of time (maybe each weekend) and only print the ones your children would use. Our children tend to enjoy coloring through first grade, then they tend to enjoy doing word searches and mazes. As they mature, they like to try the fill-in-the-blank worksheets. Finally, many mothers have asked whether children can effectively pay attention to what Mom is reading if they are busy coloring or filling in worksheets. We've found that - at least in our home - they can! An easy way to check, however, is simply to ask them to tell the story back to you when you've finished reading.

A CD-ROM of these worksheets is available free of charge by writing or calling either:

5. Often the curriculum will suggest other activities for you to do or discuss. You will find many of the activities listed on the page after the lesson plans. Please feel free to add to or subtract from our suggestions, depending on the needs and interests of your family.
6. Each Tuesday and Thursday, we like to have a "Bible Drill." This is a game in which children race each other to find passages of Scripture in their own Bibles. We urge you to play this game often so your children will gain the essential skill of finding passages in God's Word quickly! This year's Bible drills are all based upon daily or weekly themes. Be open to the leading of the Holy Spirit, and discuss some of these themes with your children. You might want to wait until your children are old enough to read fairly well on their own (typically 2nd or 3rd grade). At this age, we purchase a good-quality Bible for our children, one that lies flat when opened. To have a Bible Drill, have each child raise his Bible in the air, totally extending his arm (it's only fair). Have him hold his Bible by the back binding, with no fingers poking into the pages to keep his place for him. Mom announces the reference to be found (for instance, "Genesis 1:1"). The children then repeat the reference out loud, so that Mom is sure everyone knows where to go. Mom then shouts, "Go!" At this point, each child pulls his Bible down and begins searching for the Scripture reference as quickly as possible. The first child to find the reference stands. He then reads it out loud. If one child always wins, simply because he is older, take heart! The less-experienced children will quickly improve with frequent practice and a good dose of healthy competition. However, you can add Dad to the game in the evenings for extra spice! (Only have one child you're teaching? Try racing the timer!)
7. On Fridays we write in our journals. Our children each have a spiral or 3-ring notebook that is their Bible Journal. Once a week, they review what they've learned that week by telling about it in their journal. Young ones might draw a picture and have Mom write about it below. They might copy their memory verse. Older ones might tell what they've learned in their private Bible reading. This journal will not only provide a record of their education; it will also become a priceless treasure that helps to cement God's truth in their hearts.
8. Each day there is an optional "Extra Reading" assignment for children who are older. This assignment is intended to be read privately by the child. By following this schedule, your child will read through the New Testament in chronological order this year. If your students are in high school, we strongly recommend having them write a "title" for each chapter in the New Testament, something that tells them briefly what the chapter is about. They could do this directly in their Bibles, or in a separate notebook, or you could even purchase a special Bible for this purpose, such as The New Inductive Study Bible.

Please be open to the Holy Spirit as you work through this curriculum. Always be ready to discuss important concepts with your children and answer their questions. We have added notes and teaching ideas for some of the lessons but not all. (Note: these are all optional and will vary in difficulty.) If you come up with additional learning ideas, record them so that you'll remember them next time you cover this material. Ask God to make His Word meaningful to each of your children.

This curriculum is the second in a series of three. Foundations 1 covered the Old Testament, and we strongly recommend that you study it before beginning Foundations 2. Foundations 3 will cover the epistles of the New Testament and discuss important Bible doctrines and character qualities. When you finish with Foundations 3, go back to Foundations 1. Your children need the review, and you can always add more memory verses or reading assignments for older children (see Appendix B).

Appendix A: Tips for Bible Memory

Our tips for memorizing verses each day are based on the following principles:

1. It's easier to memorize a verse if you know what it means. That's why we spend the first day of each week talking about what the verse means. Your children will illustrate the verse also, so you'll know from their pictures if they truly understand it.
2. It's easier to memorize a verse if the verse is meaningful to you. Your job as mom is to help your children relate the verse to their own lives. What promise does it make, what advice should they follow, what sin will it help them overcome? Try to talk about the verse at other times during the day. Ask the Holy Spirit to apply it to all of your lives.
3. It's easier to memorize a verse if you use many of your senses to learn it. We use our eyes when we look at a verse visual, we use our arms and legs when we make up motions, we use our ears when we hear each other saying it together, and occasionally a verse is just the right kind to taste or smell something.
4. It's easier to memorize a verse if you repeat it many, many times. That's why you should make it your goal to have everyone say the verse out loud at least five times each day. We'll help you come up with ways to keep it from being boring, but you can always try shouting, whispering, singing, standing, marching, lying down, writing, drawing, telling it to Dad, and calling Grandma.
5. It's easier to memorize a verse if you say it with a "sing-songy" voice. Kids love this! For instance, try saying this verse, emphasizing the italicized words:

Psalm One-nineteen Eleven
Thy word have I hid in my heart,
That I might not sin against thee.
Psalm One-nineteen Eleven

Each day, recite the verse (including reference) as a group five times. As the week progresses, allow the children to say it more and more without dependence on your voice, until they can say it independently on Friday.

If you're learning an extended passage of Scripture over many weeks, try to say the entire passage you've learned thus far at least once a day. For instance, if you're learning John 1 (weeks 10-17), during week 14 you should say John 1:1-9 once a day.

Before the week starts, take a moment to write the verse (using a Sharpie marker) on a spiral-bound set of 3x5 index cards. You can use this set of verses to review in coming weeks.

As a general rule, we'll stick to the following schedule:

Monday - Discuss what a verse means and illustrate it. Give your children sheets of card stock (for durability), and ask them to illustrate the verse. Later, you can use these drawings to review verses you've already memorized.

Tuesday - Write the verse. For primary children, you may give them worksheets (see Appendix B). Preschool children will not write the verse, but you may want to have them point to letters or numbers in the verse. Save all written work on a clipboard or in notebooks.

Wednesday - Make up motions. Obviously, some verses will be easier to come up with motions for than others, but you'll be surprised how creative your kids can be! You'll probably notice that they will use motions when they say it the rest of the week as well. That's fine. Note: If it seems impossible to come up with motions, try stomping your feet in rhythm, clapping, or marching around the kitchen table as you say it - anything to get you up and moving!

Thursday - By now your kids should have nearly memorized the verse. Today is a good day for contests. "Everyone with blue eyes, say the verse." "Everyone wearing green, say the verse." Boys against girls, Primaries against Juniors, etc.

Friday - Today, after saying the verse several times as a group, have each child say it individually. I often start with the oldest child so that the youngest ones can hear it a few more times. I also "help" the younger ones more than I do the older ones, whom I expect to say it perfectly. You may wish to have a "verse recital" on Friday evenings at supper, where the kids can show Dad how well they've learned it and exhibit their drawings and writings. Make it memorable!

All of the above hints are helpful for other types of memorization as well, such as the Books of the Bible or memory work in other subjects.
